1 Introduction

1.1 Purpose of this document

This Cost Recovery Implementation Statement (CRIS) provides information on how the Australian Skills Quality Authority (ASQA) implements cost recovery for regulation of the vocational education and training (VET) sector.

The CRIS also reports financial and non-financial performance information for ASQA in its roles as national regulator, and contains financial forecasts for 2018–19 and three forward years.

ASQA will maintain the CRIS until its regulatory activities, or cost recovery for its regulatory activities, is discontinued.

All fees and charges referred to in the CRIS are detailed in ASQA's Schedule of fees and charges 2018–19. This document is published on ASQA's website at asqa.gov.au.

1.2 ASQA's cost recovery activity

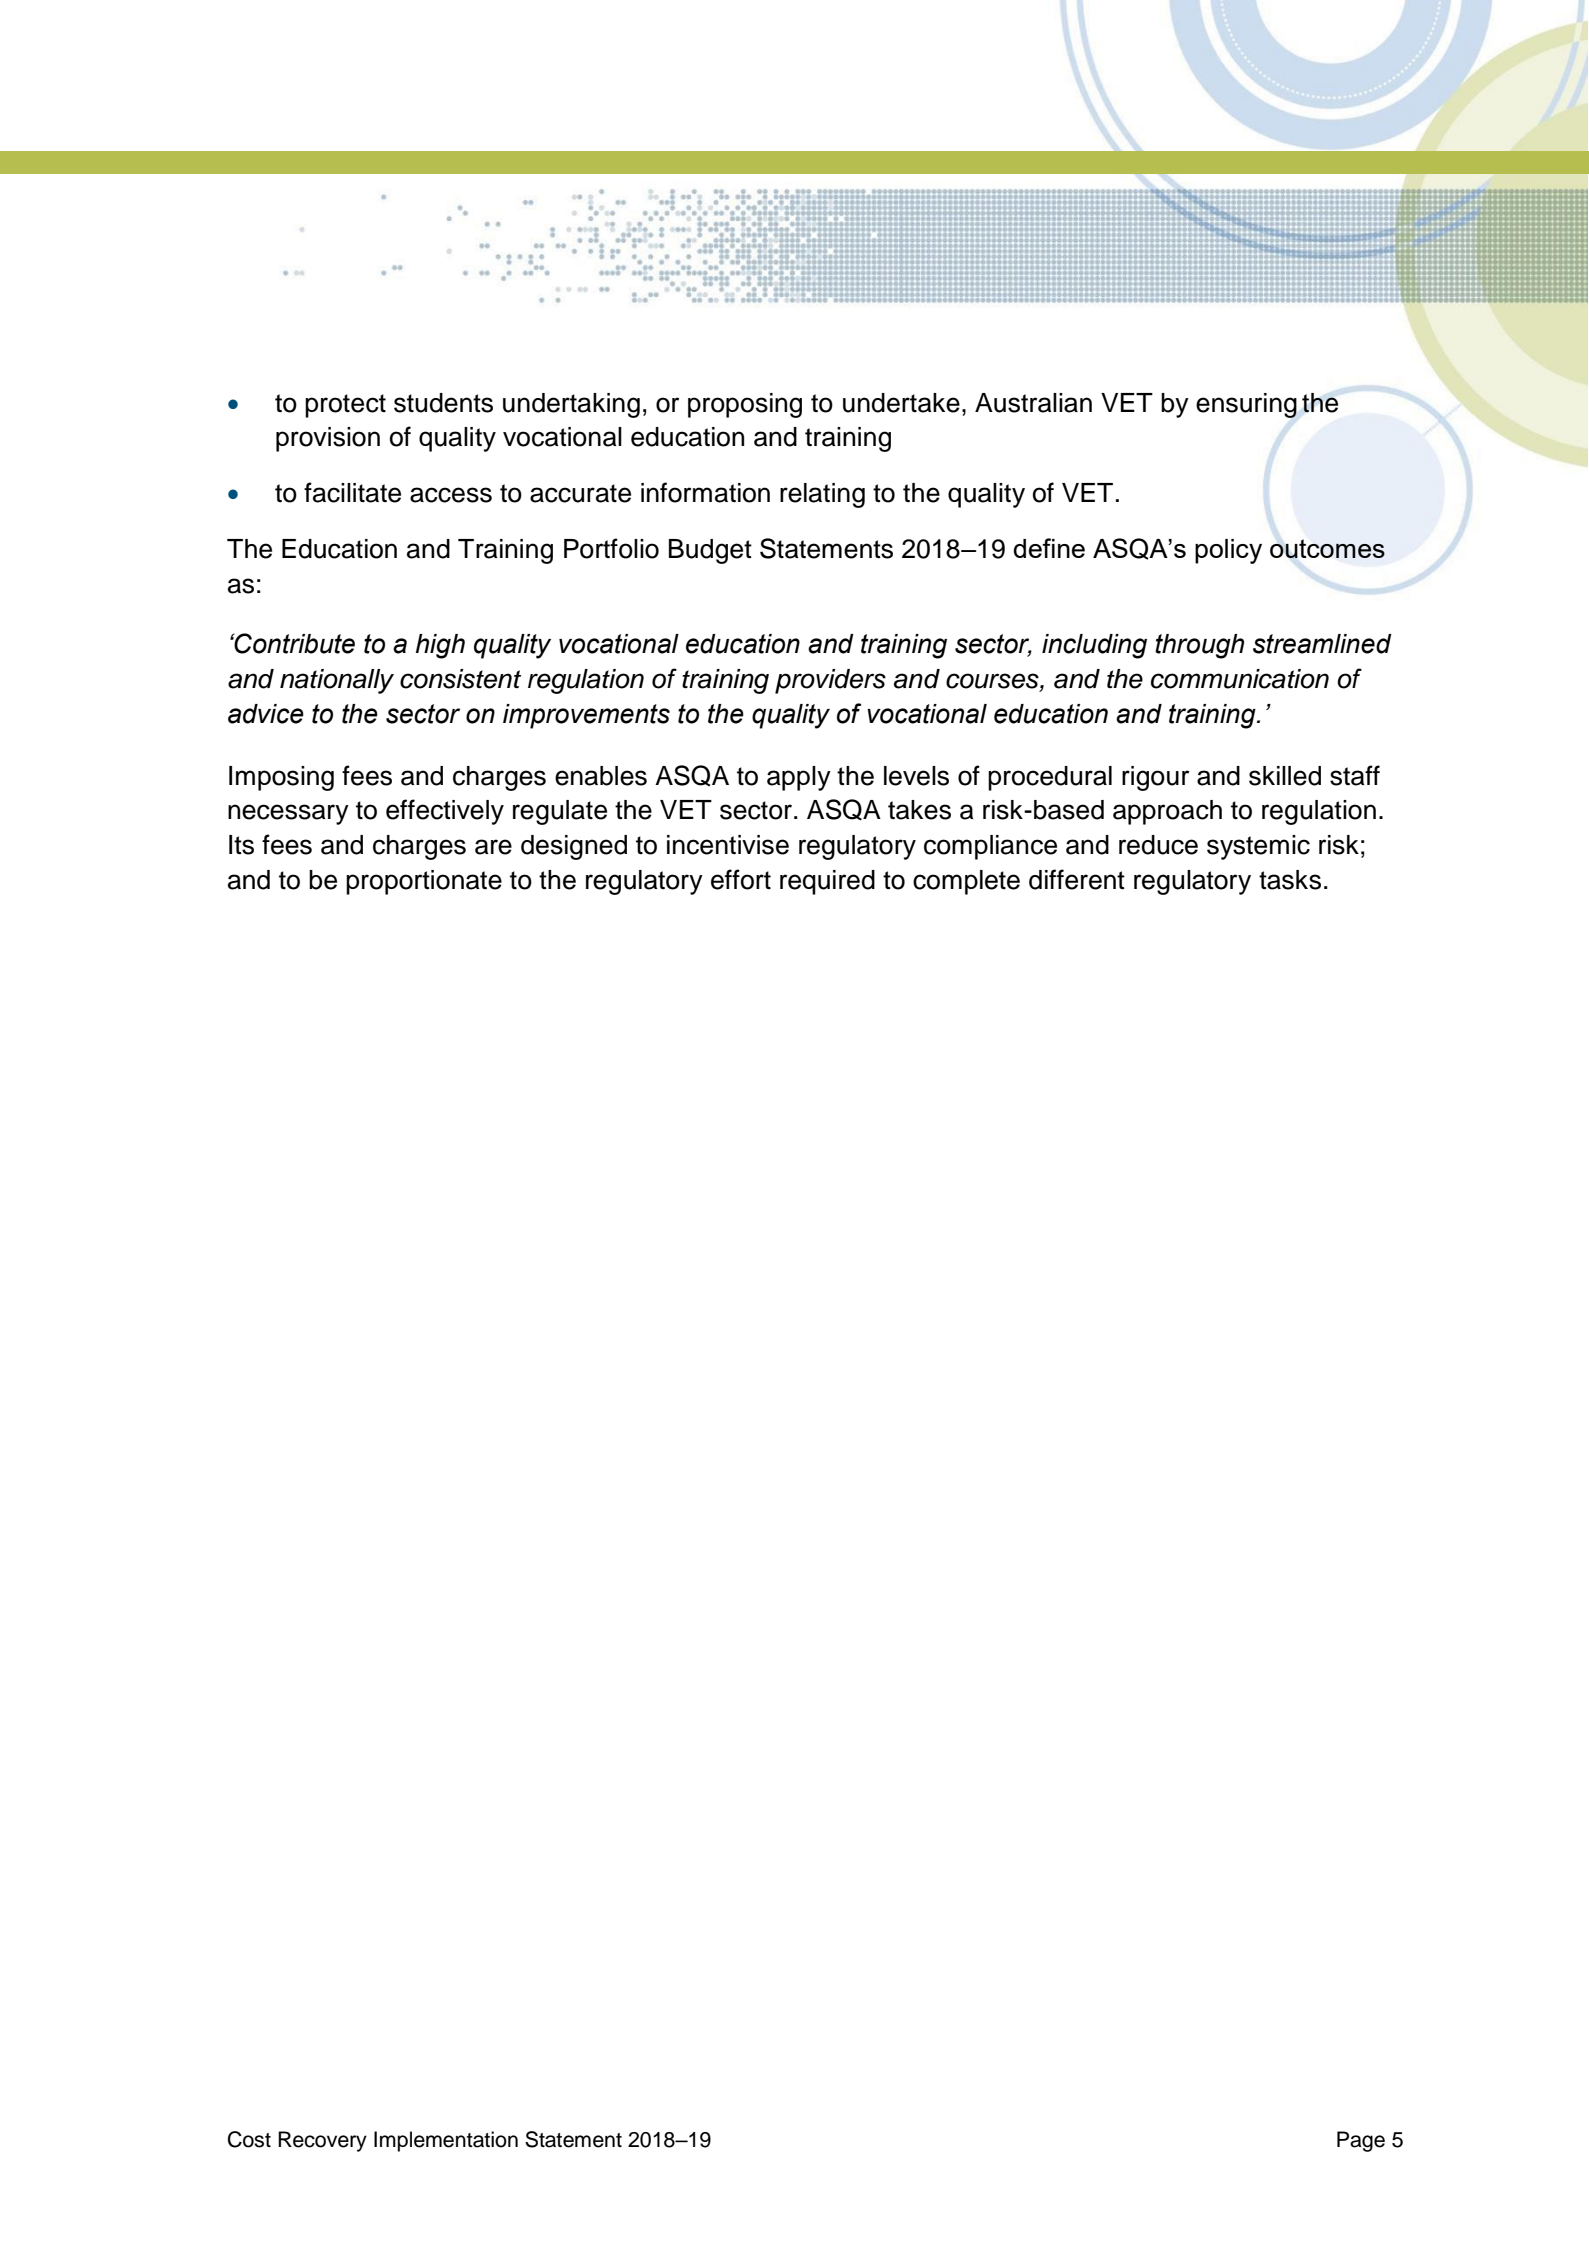

ASQA has a single cost recovery activity—the regulation of the VET sector.

ASQA imposes fees and charges on three key groups:

- registered training organisations (RTOs)
- Commonwealth Register of Institutions and Courses for Overseas Students (CRICOS) providers—including those that deliver English Language Intensive Courses for Overseas Students (ELICOS)
- VET accredited course owners.

ASQA's objectives, as described in the National Vocational Education and Training Regulator Act 2001 (the NVR Act), are:

- to provide for national consistency in the regulation of VET
- to regulate VET using:
 - a standards-based quality framework
 - risk assessments, where appropriate
- to protect and enhance:
 - quality, flexibility and innovation in VET
 - Australia's reputation for VET nationally and internationally
- to provide a regulatory framework that encourages and promotes a VET system that is appropriate to meet Australia's social and economic needs for a highly educated and skilled population

- to protect students undertaking, or proposing to undertake, Australian VET by ensuring the provision of quality vocational education and training
 - to facilitate access to accurate information relating to the quality of VET.

The Education and Training Portfolio Budget Statements 2018–19 define ASQA’s policy outcomes as:

‘Contribute to a high quality vocational education and training sector, including through streamlined and nationally consistent regulation of training providers and courses, and the communication of advice to the sector on improvements to the quality of vocational education and training.’

Imposing fees and charges enables ASQA to apply the levels of procedural rigour and skilled staff necessary to effectively regulate the VET sector. ASQA takes a risk-based approach to regulation. Its fees and charges are designed to incentivise regulatory compliance and reduce systemic risk; and to be proportionate to the regulatory effort required to complete different regulatory tasks.

2 Policy and statutory authority to cost recover

2.1 Government policy approval to cost recover

In December 2009, the Council of Australian Governments (COAG) agreed to ASQA's establishment as a cost recovery agency, and announced that ASQA would over a period of years move from partial to full cost recovery. On 1 July 2011 ASQA was established by the enactment of the NVR Act and supplementary legislation. In the 2014–15 Portfolio Additional Estimates Statements, the Australian Government confirmed ASQA's continued operation as a partial cost recovery entity.

The Australian Government Budget 2018–19 announced that ASQA will transition from partial cost recovery to full cost recovery by 2020–21.

During the transition to full cost recovery by 2020–21, ASQA will engage in public consultation with all VET sector stakeholders before any changes are made to ASQA'S fees and charges. ASQA will detail any proposed changes, the rationale and anticipated cost-recovery outcomes of the proposal, and provide all stakeholders with the opportunity to provide input and feedback. ASQA will allow adequate time not only for this consultation to take place, but also for reconsideration and revision of the proposal based on stakeholder input received during consultation.

Public consultation on ASQA's fees and charges for 2018–19 took place from 1 August to 3 September 2017. For more information on this consultation process, see section 5—Stakeholder engagement.

ASQA recovers costs by imposing fees and charges on providers for various tasks ASQA performs as part of regulating the VET sector. ASQA receives budget appropriations from the Australian Government, and cost recovery revenue is returned to the Australian Government's Consolidated Revenue Fund to offset budget funding.

2.2 Statutory authority to charge

2.2.1 Authority under the NVR Act

ASQA's authority to impose fees is provided in section 232 of the NVR Act.

Table 1 lists the sections of the NVR Act that include information about fees that can be applied by ASQA, and how they can be applied.

Table 1: Authority to impose fees under the NVR Act

Fee type	References in the NVR Act
RTO registration fees	Paragraph 16(3)(b) Subsection 17(4) Subsection 31(2) Paragraph 32(2)(b)
Course accreditation fees	Paragraph 43(2)(b) Subsection 50(2) Subparagraph 51(3)(b)(ii) Subparagraph 52(4)(b)(ii)
Other fees	Paragraph 41(4)(b) Paragraph 200(3)(c) Subsections 232(1) and 232(2)

2.2.2 Authority as an ESOS agency under the ESOS Act

As the national VET regulator, ASQA has authority to impose fees and charges on CRICOS providers. This authority is detailed in paragraph 157(1)(q) of the NVR Act, which identifies the activities that are conferred on the national VET regulator by or under the Education Services for Overseas Students Act 2000 \(the ESOS Act\).

On 1 July 2012, ASQA became the ESOS delegate for registration and enforcement activities.

On 1 July 2016, ASQA became an ESOS agency in its own right for some providers.

CRICOS providers are registered under the ESOS Act. CRICOS providers include:

- RTOs providing VET courses to overseas students who are studying in Australia
- other organisations providing ELICOS.

ASQA's CRICOS fees are distinct from charges administered by the DET.

2.2.3 Authority under the Charges Act

ASQA's authority to impose charges is provided in sections 7–12 of the National Vocational Education and Training Regulator (Charges) Act 2012 (the Charges Act).

Table 2 lists the sections of the Charges Act that include information about charges that can be applied by ASQA, and how they can be applied.

3 Cost recovery model

3.1 Cost allocation methodology

Delivery of each of ASQA's regulatory outputs requires the completion of several business processes. The completion of any given business process requires the execution of several business activities. This relationship is illustrated by Figure 1.

There are two key cost drivers for ASQA's regulatory actions:

- the resources needed to conduct any given business activity, and therefore to complete any given business process
- the number of times any given business process is completed in a financial year.

ASQA's costing model defines resources as: time; number of staff; and classification of staff.

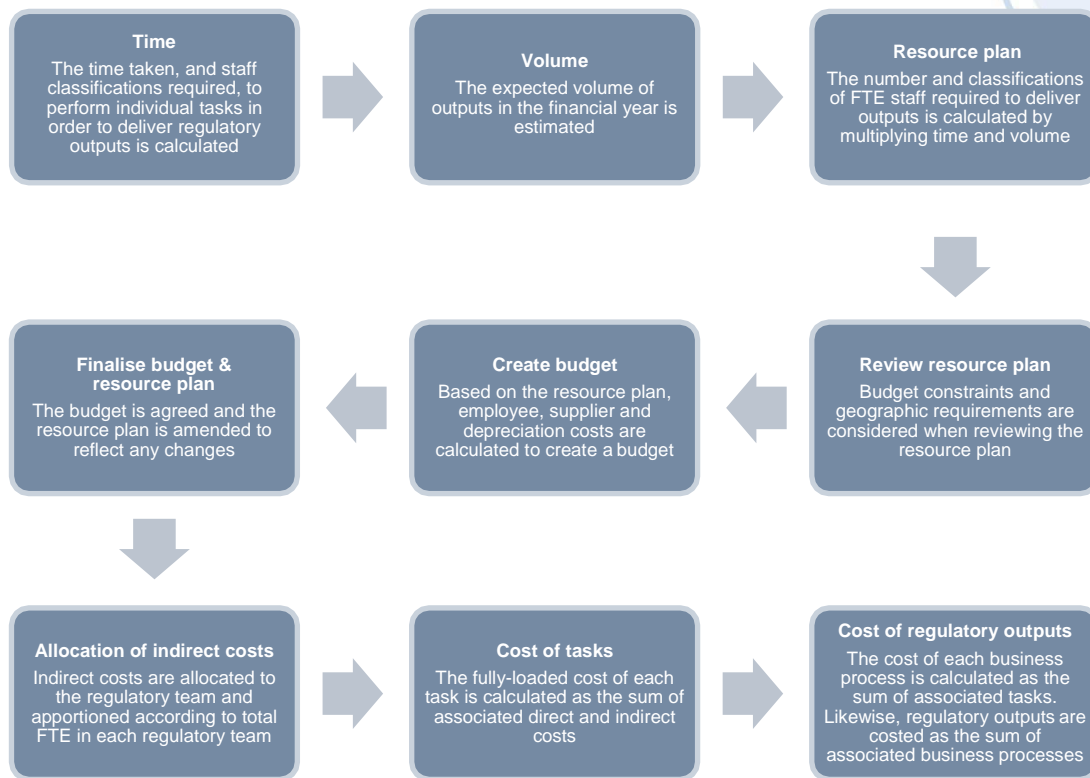

The model calculates the resources needed to complete each business activity; and therefore each business process; and ultimately the cost of delivering each regulatory output.

To ensure the transparency and ongoing accuracy of cost calculations, ASQA maintains an evidence base that provides up-to-date measures of the two key cost drivers. This evidence base is regularly tested and validated by internal data collection exercises, which detect any upward or downward variations in the key cost drivers.

The model can accurately forecast operational costs under an assumption of business-as-usual conditions. It is also flexible and can be adapted to changed business conditions—for example, when market activity events cause a variation in either of the two key cost drivers.

Notes:

Direct costs are the costs for staff directly involved in the business processes associated with regulatory outputs (e.g. auditors, application processing staff). This includes employee and supplier costs associated with these staff, such as travel, office supplies, and outsourced IT and payroll expenses. Direct costs are allocated by the amount of time staff spends directly on the associated outputs.

Indirect costs are the costs for staff whose work supports the staff who are classified as 'direct costs'. This includes employee and supplier costs associated with this work. Indirect costs are allocated to direct staff on a per-head basis.

Employee costs include salaries, superannuation, allowances and provisions.

Supplier costs are calculated as a part of direct and indirect costs. These include travel, training and development, telecommunications and IT support, legal, property, consultant and contractor expenses.

Capital costs are the initial cost of an asset and are not included in ASQA's cost recovery; however, depreciation of assets is included as indirect costs, to recognise the use of assets owned by ASQA in the performance of its tasks. Assets include those purchased and those generated through internal staff effort (e.g. ASQA's online regulatory management system, asqanet).

3.1.1 Business activities

There are two categories of business activity: support, and regulatory.

All resources involved in business activities—support are included as indirect costs. Completion of these activities is necessary for ASQA to complete the business processes involved in day-to-day operation as a government agency. They include the general business functions that are common to any organisation of similar size and complexity, and they provide the operational foundation that enables ASQA to conduct its specific regulatory activities.

All resources involved in the completion of business activities—regulatory are included as direct costs. Completion of these activities is necessary for ASQA to complete the business processes that lead directly to the delivery of regulatory outputs.

Business activities—regulatory (all classified as direct costs)
Risk intelligence gathering and assessment	External communications	Legal services	Executive direction and management

Industry engagement	Stakeholder management		Delegations
Business activities—support (all classified as indirect costs)
IT and information management	Human resources	Property and facilities management	Procurement and contract management	Corporate governance
Legislative responses (e.g. FOI)	Business improvement	Budget and revenue management	Financial administration	Internal education and training

3.1.2 Regulatory outputs—overview

Regulatory outputs are divided into two categories:

- application-based (which are initiated by a provider or course owner applying to ASQA)
- non-application-based (which are initiated by ASQA, when the need for action is identified under ASQA’s risk-based approach).

Figures 4 and 5 list ASQA’s application-based outputs and non-application-based outputs, respectively.

3.2 Breakdowns of 2018–19 cost estimates

Table 5 summarises the estimated costs of ASQA’s regulatory activity, broken down by subject area of the regulatory activity (i.e. RTOs, CRICOS providers, course accreditation).

Table 5: Estimated costs of ASQA regulatory activity, 2018–19—summary view

	Cost type	Direct costs $'000	Indirect costs $'000	Total costs $'000
RTOs	Application-based outputs	5,443	2,688	8,131
	Non-application-based outputs	15,802	7,481	23,283
RTO total		21,245	10,169	31,414

Course accreditation total		1,102	452	1,554
Total		26,294	12,507	38,801

Allocated proportionately between RTOs, CRICOS providers, and course accreditation, the estimated total annual cost of ASQA’s regulatory activity is:

- 81 percent on regulation of RTOs
- 15 percent on regulation of CRICOS
- 4 percent on regulation of course accreditation.

The higher proportion of costs allocated to regulation of RTOs is attributable to:

- the higher number of RTOs, compared to CRICOS providers
- the higher number of regulatory activities performed by ASQA in relation to RTOs, compared to CRICOS providers and compared to course accreditation
- the lower cost of assessment-based regulatory activity for course accreditation, compared to audit-based regulatory activity for RTOs and CRICOS providers.

Table 6 summarises the estimated costs of business activities—support and business activities—regulatory for 2018–19, broken down by ASQA function.

The total annual cost of business activities—regulatory is $26.3m. This represents 68 percent of the total annual cost of regulation.

The total annual cost of business activities—support is $12.5m. This represents 32 percent of the total annual cost of regulation.

3.3 Design of cost recovery charges

ASQA fees and charges are designed to limit financial impact on providers and course owners while ensuring the quality of providers entering and operating in the industry.

ASQA's fees and charges for 2018–19 are designed to support ASQA's risk-based regulatory approach, incentivise provider compliance, and minimise the administrative and financial burden on providers that provide quality outcomes to students.

The fees and charges apply to all ASQA-regulated providers and course owners.

ASQA's current schedule of fees and charges is available at all time on ASQA's website at asqa.gov.au.

Changes from 2017–18 fees and charges

Changes to fees and charges for RTOs include:

- decreases in initial, renewal and change-of-scope application lodgement fees
- a shift from assessments of all applications (with costs shared across all providers) to an approach where costs are charged at the point of audit (meaning that for renewal and change-of-scope applications, charges for the additional cost of assessment will only be imposed on those providers that require an audit).

CRICOS changes include:

- decreases in initial and renewal application lodgement fees
- a decrease in the change-of-scope application fee.

Course accreditation changes include:

- replacing the single application fee with a lodgement fee and an assessment fee (so that ASQA's initial costs are recovered, and applicants whose applications are of insufficient quality to proceed to the assessment stage are only charged for the cost of lodgement)
- replacing the single amendment fee with different fees for 'minor' and 'major' amendments, which results in a lower cost to providers who make minor amendments.

Annual registration changes include:

- replacing the annual fee with an annual registration charge to ensure consistency with the Australian Government Charging Framework (noting the amount and structure is unchanged, and that there will be no financial impact on providers, course owners or ASQA due to this change).

Averaging the application lodgement fee for initial, assessment, renewal and change-of-scope provides simplicity, consistency and efficiency.

3.3.1 Partial cost recovery

ASQA receives annual budget appropriation for operating and capital activities from the Australian Government and returns cost recovery revenue to the Consolidated Revenue Fund to offset this budget funding. The cost of some of ASQA's regulatory activity is partially recovered through fees and charges. Some of ASQA's regulatory activity is funded by ASQA's annual budget appropriation.

Table 10.1 provides a breakdown of ASQA's regulatory output types, the percentage of costs recovered and estimated revenue.

Table 10.2 lists areas of regulatory activity that are currently funded through ASQA's annual budget appropriation, and are not subject to cost recovery in 2018–19.

The Australian Government Budget 2018–19 announced that ASQA will transition from partial cost recovery to full cost recovery by 2020–21. In line with this decision, and to ensure consistency with the Australian Government Charging Framework, the regulatory activities listed in table 10.2 may be subject to cost recovery by 2020–21 (if ASQA is still performing those regulatory activities at that time).

3.3.2 Cost recovery—RTO application-based outputs

For each regulatory output, the table shows the related fees/charges; the volume (the number of times a fee/charge is applied in a year); and thus the total revenue.

The table then shows the total costs associated with that fee/charge (a detailed breakdown of these costs is provided in Table 7.1), and the cost recovery rate as a percentage.

The table then shows the total costs associated with that fee (a detailed breakdown of these costs is provided in Table 8.1), and the cost recovery rate as a percentage.

The table then shows the total costs associated with that fee (a detailed breakdown of these costs is provided in Table 9.1), and the cost recovery rate as a percentage.

Table 14 shows the estimated cost recovery percentage for RTO non-application-based regulatory outputs.

For each regulatory output, the table shows the related charge; the volume (the number of times a charge is applied in a year); and thus the total revenue.

The table then shows the total costs associated with that charge (a detailed breakdown of these costs is provided in Table 7.2), and the cost recovery rate as a percentage.

ASQA does not have statutory authority to charge for compliance audits of CRICOS providers. CRICOS compliance audits conducted by ASQA are budget-funded by ASQA's annual appropriation.

3.3.6 Annual registration charge—RTOs

The RTO annual registration charge has four tiers, and is applied according to the number of qualifications on an RTO's scope of registration.

The RTO annual registration charge recovers the costs of regulatory activities that are necessarily performed by ASQA but have limited nexus with individual providers. In some cases, no fee or charge is applied (for example withdrawal of an application for registration, or changes to an RTO's registration details). These activities and costs are shown in Table 15.

Estimated revenue from the RTO annual registration charge is detailed in Table 16.

3.3.7 Annual registration charge—CRICOS providers

The CRICOS annual registration charge has four tiers, and is applied according to the number of qualifications on a provider's scope of registration.

The CRICOS annual registration charge recovers the costs of regulatory activities that are necessarily performed by ASQA but have limited nexus with individual providers. These activities and costs are shown in Table 17.

Estimated revenue from the RTO annual registration charge is detailed in Table 18.

3.3.8 Example fee calculation

4 Risk assessment

The key risks attached to charging for ASQA's regulatory activity are:

- variation in the volume of RTO participation (entries to and exits from the market)
- variation in the volume of training products
- variation in the volume of changes to training products.

ASQA has worked closely with the Department of Education and Training to forecast changes to the VET market and to build a sustainable cost recovery model that can withstand these changes.

ASQA's Regulatory Risk Framework outlines ASQA's risk-based approach to regulation, with a focus on risk and intelligence.

In accordance with the Australian Government Charging Framework, ASQA undertook a Charging Risk Assessment (CRA). Key components of the CRA included:

- level of change for cost recovery activities
- level of cost recovery revenue
- complexity in the cost recovery arrangements (i.e. both fees and charges)
- level of change in legislative arrangements
- level of complexity of working with other government entities to deliver the regulatory functions
- level of impact of cost recovery on payers
- issues identified in consultation with stakeholders.

The CRA was agreed with the Department of Finance at a rating of 'high'.

5 Stakeholder engagement

ASQA is part of a complex environment of stakeholders that interact to deliver regulatory arrangements for the VET sector. Stakeholders include regulated providers; industry peak bodies; Australian, state and territory governments; students; and employers.

Public consultation on fees and charges for 2018–19 took place from 1 August to 3 September 2017. Consultation was based on a document published on ASQA's website that detailed the schedule of fees and charges proposed for implementation in 2018–19.

Stakeholders were actively engaged via a range of activities and communication channels. An online form was added to the website to enable all stakeholders to provide direct feedback. ASQA held face-to-face and online briefing sessions, with an open invitation issued to all stakeholders, providing them the opportunity to seek clarification on any aspect of the fees and charges before submitting feedback. ASQA's Chief Commissioner met with representatives of training provider peak bodies, to provide them with the same opportunity.

Stakeholder feedback was supportive of the proposal document. Over 80 per cent of submissions received during the consultation period expressed favourable opinions, and acknowledged that the proposed fees and charges would enhance ASQA's risk-based approach to regulation.

Issues and queries raised during stakeholder consultation are listed below, and the actions taken by ASQA to address them:

- Transparency of the calculation method for audit costs: To provide clarity on this issue for the sector, section 3 of this CRIS describes the cost drivers of ASQA's regulatory activity, and explains the methodology used to calculate audit costs. To ensure the transparency and ongoing accuracy of cost calculations, ASQA maintains an evidence base that provides up-to-date measures of the key cost drivers. This evidence base is regularly tested and validated by internal data collection exercises, which detect any upward or downward variations in the key cost drivers.
- Scalability of the annual registration charge: This charge is structured according to four scope-of-registration brackets (0–4 qualifications; 5–10 qualifications; 11–60 qualifications; 61 or more qualifications). This structure, and the charges for each bracket, are unchanged since 2014. ASQA has committed to exploring future enhancements to the method of calculating the annual registration charge. For example, by factoring in enrolment data as the completeness of national data collection (Total VET Activity) improves.

ASQA's projected cost recovery obligations: The Australian Government Budget 2018–19 announced that ASQA will transition from partial cost recovery to full cost recovery by 2020–21. This decision resulted in no changes to the consultation document. Should ASQA consider any changes to its fees and charges during the transition period to 2020–21, VET stakeholders will be consulted on proposed changes and given the opportunity to provide input and feedback, as was done in the development of this CRIS. ASQA will consider all feedback received as part of such consultation and will review any proposed changes accordingly.

6 Portfolio Budget Statement targets

Table 20 details ASQA's Portfolio Budget Statement (PBS) targets for the 2018–19 financial year and forward estimates for the following three years.

Table 20: ASQA PBS targets and forward estimates, July 2018–June 2022

	2018–19 PBS target $'000	2019–20 forward estimate $'000	2020–21 forward estimate $'000	2021–22 forward estimate $'000

Cumulative balance	(15,520)	(31,166)	(31,199)	(31,199)

In 2014, the Australian Government decided ASQA's cost recovery target should be reduced from full cost recovery to partial cost recovery of all expenses (employee, supplier and depreciation, but not capital). ASQA receives annual budget appropriation for operating and capital activities from the Australian Government and returns cost recovery revenue to the Consolidated Revenue Fund to offset this budget funding.

The Australian Government Budget 2018–19 announced that ASQA will transition from partial cost recovery to full cost recovery by 2020–21.

7 Financial performance

This table will be updated with figures for 2017–18 once complete data is available.

In 2016–17, ASQA's cost recovery rate at the aggregate level was 72 percent. This continued a gradual and consistent upward trend from 2011–12, when ASQA's aggregate-level cost recovery rate was 34 percent. The cost recovery figures for each of those six years was in agreement with government policy at the time, which was for ASQA to operate as a partial cost recovery agency.

ASQA's cost recovery rate is expected to continue to gradually increase over the years 2018–19 and 2019–20, which together will comprise a transition period toward ASQA operating as a full cost recovery agency.

For more information on government policy regarding ASQA's cost recovery, see section 2.1—Government policy approval to cost recover.

8 Non-financial performance

ASQA has several non-financial performance indicators in place, aimed at measuring its effectiveness in carrying out core regulatory activities as well as measuring stakeholder perspectives on ASQA's performance.

ASQA measures stakeholder satisfaction according to the timeliness of ASQA's regulatory processes and the effectiveness of its interactions with the regulated community.

The key indicators are:

- processing applications
- audit activity
- regulatory decisions
- stakeholder satisfaction.

ASQA's performance against these non-financial key indicators are set out each year in its annual report.

PROCESSING APPLICATIONS

ASQA aims to finalise within six months all complete applications for renewal of registration and change of scope that require an audit. ASQA aims to finalise change-of-scope applications not requiring an audit within one month. Applications for initial registration may take longer depending on whether additional information is required from the applicant, as well as ASQA's assessment of the applicant's readiness to deliver quality training.

Between 1 July 2016 and 30 June 2017, ASQA received 5,955 applications and completed 5,798 applications.

During the 12 months to 30 June 2017:

- Almost 50 per cent of initial applications were finalised in less than six months.
- Nearly 60 per cent of renewal applications were finalised within 30 days, and 88 per cent were finalised within six months or sooner.
- 59 per cent of change-of-scope applications were finalised within 15 days or sooner.

Table 22: Application completion time by type (1 July 2016–30 June 2017)

Application type	Target	% completed within target
Initial registration	Finalised within 6 months	65.0
Renewal of registration	Finalised within 6 months	96.0
Change of scope—with audit	Finalised within 6 months	42.7
Change of scope—without audit	Finalised within 1 month	84.6

* Finalised' means that ASQA has made a decision and advised the applicant. This excludes any review process for rejected applications.

This section will be updated with information for the financial year 2017–18 when complete data is available.

AUDIT ACTIVITY

ASQA undertakes two distinct types of audit:

- registration audits (which assess whether an application submitted to ASQA complies with the relevant standards)
- compliance audits (which assess the provider's delivery of quality training and assessment services and outcomes; may be conducted at any time; and may be triggered by risk assessment, risk intelligence and/or complaints).

As of 30 June 2017, ASQA had regulatory responsibility for 4,098 (89.2 per cent) of Australia's 4,593 nationally registered training organisations. Responsibility for regulation of the remaining 495 providers (10.8 per cent) was shared between the Victorian Registration and Qualifications Authority (VRQA) and the Training Accreditation Council (TAC) Western Australia.

Since its establishment, ASQA has adopted an increasingly risk-based approach to regulation, which has allowed it to direct its resources towards areas that pose the greatest threat to quality, and to minimise the regulatory burden for most RTOs. Under this approach, all initial registration applications are subject to a mandatory audit. For existing organisations, ASQA targets regulatory resources towards providers that are identified as posing the greatest risk to quality. Under ASQA's student-centred audit approach—which follows the entire student journey from marketing and enrolment to the completion of a course—risk analysis and intelligence are more likely to trigger audits. This reflects ASQA's ongoing transition to a proactive model of monitoring the quality of VET.

ASQA's performance criteria states that application of risk-based regulation is demonstrated by the percentage of non-application-based audits to application-based audits. The performance target is 30 per cent of audits to be non-application based.

ASQA completed 7,857 audits between its commencement on 1 July 2011 and 30 June 2017.

Table 23: Audits completed by financial year

Financial Year	2011–12	2012–13	2013–14	2014–15	2015–16	2016–17	Total
Completed audits	773	1,364	1,515	1,399	1,174	1,632	7,857

* 1 July 2016–30 June 2017

Of the 7,857 audits completed since July 2011, a total of 2,972 (an average of 37.8 per cent) were non-application-based.

Between 1 July 2015 and 30 June 2016, ASQA completed 1,174 audits of training providers.

Between 1 July 2016 and 30 June 2017 ASQA completed 1,632 audits, of which 919 (56.3 per cent) were non-application-based.

This section will be updated with information for the financial year 2017–18 when complete data is available.

REGULATORY DECISIONS

ASQA made 758 adverse regulatory decisions in the 2016–17 financial year. This was a significant increase from the financial year 2015–16 year where 221 adverse decisions were made.

The 758 adverse decisions comprised:

- 125 decisions to cancel
- 56 decisions to suspend
- 478 intentions to cancel / suspend
- 99 other administrative sanctions.

The regulatory figures show an increase in adverse decisions given the recent expansion in ASQA's regulatory tasks in relation to the monitoring of the now mandatory submission of Total VET Activity data and subsequent work with the NCVER to ensure that this meets relevant standards.

This section will be updated with information for the financial year 2017–18 when complete data is available.

STAKEHOLDER RELATIONSHIPS

The Total VET Graduate Outcomes Survey 2017 is a survey of students (both those in receipt of government funding and those who paid for their own training) who completed their VET during 2016.

The 2017 survey found:

- 87.3 per cent of graduates were satisfied with the overall quality of their training
- 91.6 per cent of graduates would recommend the training
- 89.4 per cent of graduates would recommend their training provider.

The National Centre for Vocational Education Research (NCVER) Employers' use and views of the VET system 2017 provides information on employers' use and views of the VET system and the various ways employers use the VET system to meet their skill needs. In 2017:

- 75.4% of employers were satisfied that vocational qualifications provide employees with the skills they require for the job
- 77.5% of employers were satisfied that apprentices and trainees are obtaining skills they require from training
- 82.2% of employers were satisfied that nationally recognised training (which is not part of an apprenticeship or traineeship) provides employees with the skills they require for the job.

Ref	Name	Fee structure	Amount	Other matters
Add qualifications⁴, increase overall student capacity⁵, or add/change sites⁶
ASQA will automatically add equivalent training package qualifications to a provider's scope without requiring an application. This exempts providers from applications and fees to add these items to their scope of registration. This exemption applies for the twelve-month period following an item being superseded, while the superseded item remains listed on the RTO's scope on the national register.

Change course duration
Since 1 October 2014, fees have not applied for an application to either lengthen or shorten the published duration of an existing CRICOS course registration, as a course may now only be registered once for each provider. An application to change a published course duration is still required, however it incurs no fee.
	Application fee	Change to course duration	Nil	• Use the change of scope application form
		Change mode of delivery	Nil
		Change student tuition fees	Nil
Remove items from scope of registration
No fee applies

⁴ The same fee rate applies regardless of whether the course to be added is new to the provider's scope or is either:
- for Training Package qualifications: a non-equivalent replacement version of a course already on the provider's scope; or
- for Accredited Courses: a replacement version of a course that is already on the provider's scope.

⁵ Fee applies for application to ASQA to increase overall student capacity for enrolments in courses across all education sectors, whether ASQA is the relevant ESOS agency or not.

⁶ A new site is a location where the provider is not currently registered to deliver any course for any education sector to overseas students. For instance, a location where a provider is registered to deliver a higher education course, but now seeks to deliver a VET course, is not a new location.
